[From the Norfolk Virginian.] Visit of the Richmond Soldiery-Grand Military Parade.

Wednesday, the glorious Fourth, was a gala-day in Norfolk, and its observance here was general and marked. Business throughout the city was suspended, and every one seemed to have cast aside the cares of everyday life, and to be in full pursuit of pleasure and recreation. The streets presented an appearance as of Sunday, divested of the solemnity attendant upon that day, and there was no sign nor sound of business the city.

The day dawned clear and sultry, and at 5 o'clock in the morning the inhabitants were aroused by a salute of twenty-one guns fired by the second plateon of the Norfolk Light-Artillery Blues, under Lieutenant J. A. Walton, in honor of the arrival of the Richmond military, who at about that hour came up the harbor on board the steamer John Sylvester, of the James River Steamboat Company.

When the steamer reached the company's wharf the First Virginia regiment, two hundred and forty strong, under Colonel Bradley T. Johnson, and the Richmond Howitzers, with about forty men, commanded by First Lieutenant R. C. Wortham, disembarked in companies and marched up Roanoke avenue to Water street, where the entire force was drawn up in line. The command then marched through Water street to Commerce and up Commerce to 200,000 00 Norfolk City Guard, Captain White, and gon Hill—who are charged with assaulting platoons of the Norfolk Light-Artillery and interfering with James Cook (colored 28,554 43 Rues Lieutepant Walton with the usual Norfolk City Guard, Captain White, and military ceremonies.

The various commands then formed in battalion and proceeded to the National Hotel, where they were welcomed by Captain R. Frank Vaughan, of the Blues, in an appropriate manner, and where they enjoyed some cooling beverages, preparatory to breakfast. These preliminaties being concluded, the soldiers were dismissed; after which they proceeded to the Atlantic Hotel, where breakfast avaited them:

At 9 o'clock the Howitzers and the various companies of the regiment formed on Granby street if front of the hotel, and proceeded to the head of Market Square, where they were joined by the Norfolk Light-Artillery Blues, Captain R. Frank Vaughau, and the Norfolk City Guard, Captain E. V. White, and where a battalion was formed preparatory to the parade.

The Richmond commands presented a fine appearance, while the Norfolk companies did full credit to our city, the whole making one of the handsomest military displays witnessed in Norfolk for years. At about 9 o'cleck the march was commenced in the following order: The First Virginia regiment on the left, Norfolk City Guard next, with the Norfolk Light-Artillery Blues coming third, and the Richmond Howitzers on the right.

The commands took the ferryboat and proceeded to Portsmouth, from, which city they returned at about 12 M., and marched up Market Square to Main street, and through Main to the National Hotel, in the dining-room of which building the guests were welcomed by Mayor John S. Tucker in a few appropriate remarks expressive of the feeling of the citizens of Norfolk toward the Richmond soldiers. Mayor Tuck-livered a short but forcible and eloquent address, during which he was frequently and loudly applauded. Before taking his seat he suggested that the Colonel of the regiment (Colonel Bradley T. Johnson) should then address the gathering; and, after being loudly called for, that gentleman tock the stand and made an appropriate speech, plentifully interspersed with wit and humor, and which was received with vociferous applause and much laughter.

A collation prepared by the companies of this city was then disposed of, after which the soldiers dispersed. The following is a list of the officers of the visiting military: FIRST VIRGINIA REGIMENT.

temperature, northerly winds veering to ago the President and Secretary of the Treasury determined to appoint Mr. Russell collector of internal revenue at Richmond. Shortly after the decision was announced Colonel Mosby demanded of Russell that he should be allowed to name the three tobacco-inspectors at Richmond, who were the appointees of the collector. Mr. Russell refused, and Mosby told him in plain terms that if he did not assent he could not have the collectorship.

Mr. Russell says that the proposition was made not by Colonel Mosby, but by one of Colonel Mosby's friends, who claimed to speak for Colouel Mosby. Mr. Russell would not listen to the proposition, because be did not think it would be right to enter into such bargain. Even if it had been right it would not have been expedient, as the party who wanted places for himself and relatives and friends already has three sons in the Government service, and declares that he has named no less than six appointees in the Post-Office Department. Failing with Mr. Russell, a proposition of like import was made to Mr. Murphy, who was then also an aspirant for the collector-ship, and by him also rejected. Mr. Russell says that he does not enjoy the acquaintance of Colonel Mosby, and never had any communication with him about his office or any matter of the sort.

A NARROW ESCAPE FROM DEATH .- Mrs. Blennis, who keeps a boarding-house on Fourteenth street near the Exchange Hotel. had a very narrow escape on Thursday activity along the principal thoroughfares of afternoon. She was cleaning out a drawer in which there was a small pistol. A little colored boy commenced playing with the pistol, when she drove him off. After turning away from the drawer the boy went up and took the pistol out, and, while playing with it, it went off, the balligrazing her skull, taking the skin off for several inches. She was very much frightened, though fortunately not much injured.

There seems to be some doubt about the guilt of Joe Merrimon and John Garrett. Henry Goen, who was the ringleader, it is alleged, had not been captured up to 9 o'clock last night. Cook identifies some of the parties. Accused will be examined by the Police Justice this morning on the double charge of interfering with Cook and with assaulting him.

Sergeant Parater also arrested Richard Hamilton (colored), charged with stealing two pairs of shoes and other articles, the property of Joseph Evans, and Millie Fleming (colored), charged with stealing one clock, the property of Eliza Mason.

YOUTHFUL BURGLARS .- Edward Ryan and Willie Rvan, aged twelve and ten respectively, were arrested yesterday on the charge of breaking open the front window of C. F. Johnston's music-store and stealing therefrom several musical instruments of the value of $37. The robbery was committed last Sunday morning, and the guilty parties were discovered yesterday. One of the stolen fiddles was sold for fifty cents by Willie Ryan to Payne Johnson, and the latter took the instrument to C. F. Johnston's music-store to be repaired, by which means the perpetrators of the theft were traced up and captured.

UNIFORMING THE CONDUCTORS .- On Monday the conductors of the Chesapeake and Ohio road, by direction of the company, went into the new uniform. It is a blue cloth coat, pants, and cap, the coat being much like the army officers' fatigue-dress. with brass buttons. On each cap is a silver badge denoting the rank of the wearer. It improves the appearance of the officials, and will be agreeable to the travelling public as pointing out those in authority on the trains.

CONVICTS IN TROUBLE-TWO KILLED .-A private letter from a gentleman connected with the Buchanan and Clifton Forge Railway Company to a relative in this city says that since the convicts have been at work on the line of the road eight have tried to escape, and that two of these were killed, one was badly wounded, and the others recaptured unburt.

POLICE COURT, YESTERDAY-Justice Jochild of Edward Leiss. Several witnesses were examined, and the Justice continued the case until to-day in order to hear a statement of the father of the child. The accused was bailed in the sum of $2,500 for his appearance.

It is alleged that Kell, after the accident used improper language towards Mr. Leiss. This, however, accused denies. He does not deny that when Mr. Clinely was telling ford to sell goods at the lowest possible scale of the sergeant at the Second station-bouse to enter a charge against him for fast driving that he told Clinely that it was "a d-d lie," or that he was "a d-d liar." Kell does not seem to be more than twenty years of age. His explanation of the accident is that he was intent upon whipping off a big horse-fly that was pestering his horse, and that, being so occupied, he did not see the child until too late. Of course he did not intend to hurt the child. The case of Fanny Richardson (a colored woman), charged with stealing a watch from Adolphus Cook, was continued until to-day. Lille Bennett (white), Alice Stewart, and Laura Gatewood (colored), were sent to jail for ninety days each for being drunk and disorderly in the street.

Bettie Gray (colored), charged with house breaking, was turned over to the Henrico county authorities. Jacob Logan, an old gray-headed negro up for stealing one lot of tobacco from ome person unkown, was tried and acquitted. It did not appear in evidence that any larceny had been committed. Logan was then arrested by the United States authorities for having in his possession one tot of manufactured tobacco not having the stamp affixed. He was taken before Commissioner Atkins and case continued until
